200 Letters

On South Carolina's rules for admission to the bar.

Norma Juliet Wikler — 202—On the judicial agenda for the 80s:
equal treatment for men and women in the courts
Sex-based bias influences decision-making in America's courts, researchers have discovered. Here's a report on their findings—and some possible remedies.

Susan B. Carbon — 210 Judicial retention elections:
are they serving their intended purpose?
Retention elections haven't failed simply because only 33 judges have not been retained in the first 45 years. In fact, the reformers who designed the idea wanted to ensure lengthy tenure for judges as well as accountability to the voters.

John A. Stookey and George Watson — 234 Merit retention elections:
can the bar influence the voters?
Actively publicizing bar poll results can increase voter awareness in retention elections—and even influence outcomes—a new study suggests.
