

The University of Chicago
Law Review

VOLUME 56
NUMBER 4
FALL 1989

The Rule of Law as a Law of Rules

Antonin Scalia

Selective Limitations on Tax Benefits

Daniel N. Shaviro

The Diversity Explanation of the Eleventh Amendment: A Reply to Critics

William A. Fletcher

Interest Analysis and the Presumption of Forum Law

Larry Kramer

An Economic Analysis of Sex
Discrimination Laws

Richard A. Posner

Prohibiting Sex Discrimination in the Workplace: An Economic Perspective

John J. Donohue III

Patronage and the First Amendment: A Structural Approach

Constitutionally Regulating Telephone Harrassment:
An Exercise in Statutory Precision

Police Witness Immunity Under § 1983

A Critique of the Reasonable Expectations Doctrine

Mandatory Summary Jury Trial: Playing by the Rules?

Of Speakable Ethics and Constitutional

Law: A Review Essay

Morality, Politics and Law:

A Bicentennial Essay

Michael J. Perry

Richard H. Fallon, Jr.

The University of Chicago Law Review

VOLUME 56 NUMBER 4 FALL 1989

© 1989 by The University of Chicago

ESSAY

- The Rule of Law as a Law
of Rules Antonin Scalia 1175

ARTICLES

- Selective Limitations on Tax
Benefits Daniel N. Shaviro 1189
- The Diversity Explanation of the Eleventh Amendment: A
Reply to Critics William A. Fletcher 1261
- Interest Analysis and the Presumption of Forum Law Larry Kramer 1301

EXCHANGE

- An Economic Analysis of Sex Discrimination
Laws Richard A. Posner 1311
- Prohibiting Sex Discrimination in the Workplace: An Economic Perspective John J. Donohue III 1337

COMMENTS

- Patronage and the First Amendment:
A Structural Approach 1369
- Constitutionally Regulating Telephone
Harrassment: An Exercise in Statutory Precision 1403
- Police Witness Immunity Under
§ 1983 1433
- A Critique of the Reasonable
Expectations Doctrine 1461
- Mandatory Summary Jury Trial:
Playing by the Rules? 1495