

The Yale Law Journal

Volume 100, Number 3, December 1990

Contents

Articles

Immigration Law After a Century of Plenary Power: Phantom
Constitutional Norms and Statutory Interpretation
Hiroshi Motomura 545

Strategic Bargaining and the Economic Theory
of Contract Default Rules
Jason Scott Johnston 615

Essays

What Is Positive Law?
Philippe Nonet 667

On the Laws Governing Free Spirits and Philosophers of the Future: A Response to Nonet's "What Is Positive Law?"
Peter Berkowitz 701

Reply
Philippe Nonet 723

Notes

The Supreme Court and "Civil Rights," 1886-1908
David Bernstein 725

Constrained Individualism in Group Litigation: Requiring
Class Members to Make a Good Cause Showing
Before Opting Out of a Federal Class Action
Mark W. Friedman 745

Altering the Course of the Constitutional Convention:
The Role of the Committee of Detail in Establishing
the Balance of State and Federal Powers
John C. Hueston 765

Accomplices in Federal Court: A Case for Increased Evidentiary Standards
Christine J. Saverda 785

A Proposed Scheme of Municipal Waste-
Generator Liability
Michelle L. Washington 805

Book Review

Letters from Beyond the Regulatory State
Ronald F. Wright 825

The Yale Law Journal

Articles

Immigration Law After a Century of Plenary Power:
Phantom Constitutional Norms and Statutory Interpretation
Hiroshi Motomura

Strategic Bargaining and the Economic Theory of Contract Default Rules
Jason Scott Johnston

Essays

What Is Positive Law?
Philippe Nonet

On the Laws Governing the Spirits and Philosophers of the Future:
A Response to Nonet's "What Is Positive Law?"
Peter Berkowitz

Reply
Philippe Nonet

Notes

The Supreme Court and "Civil Rights," 1886-1908

Constrained Individualism in Group Litigation:
Requiring Class Members to Make a Good Cause Showing
Before Opting Out of a Federal Class Action

Altering the Course of the Constitutional Convention:
The Role of the Committee of Detail in Establishing
the Balance of State and Federal Powers

Accomplices in Federal Court:
A Case for Increased Evidentiary Standards

A Proposed Scheme of Municipal Waste-Generator Liability

Book Review

Letters from Beyond the Regulatory State
Ronald F. Wright

Volume 100

December 1990

Number 3