

The Yale Law Journal

Volume 101, Number 1, October 1991

Contents

Tributes

Living Without the Judge

Stephen L. Carter 1

Mr. Justice Thurgood Marshall: A Substantial
Architect of the United States Constitution
for Our Times

William T. Coleman, Jr. 7

Thurgood Marshall

Paul Gewirtz 13

My Personal Debt to Thurgood Marshall

Constance Baker Motley 19

TM's Legacy

Ralph K. Winter 25

Articles

Does Interest Group Theory Justify More
Intrusive Judicial Review?

Einer R. Elhauge 31

The Promissory Basis of Section 90

Edward Yorio and Steve Thel 111

Notes

Tribal Court's Failure to Protect Native
American Women: A Reevaluation of the Indian Civil Rights Act

Carla Christofferson 169

Politicizing Who Dies

Stephen P. Garvey 187

The Common Law Sovereignty of Religious Lawfinders and the Free Exercise Clause

Bernard Roberts 211

Freedom and Federalism: The First Amendment's
Protection of Legislative Voting

Steven N. Sherr 233

Book Review

Voice, Not Choice

James S. Liebman 259

The Yale Law Journal

Tributes

Living Without the Judge
Stephen L. Carter

Mr. Justice Thurgood Marshall: A Substantial Architect of the United States Constitution for Our Times
William F. Coleman, Jr.

Thurgood Marshall
Paul Gewirtz

My Personal Debt to Thurgood Marshall
Constance Baker Motley

TM's Legacy
Ralph K. Winter

CENTERS

Articles

Does Interest Group Theory Justify More
Intrusive Judicial Review?
Einer R. Elhauge

The Promissory Basis of Section 90
Edward Yorio and Steve Thel

Notes

Tribal Court's Failure to Protect Native American Women:
A Reevaluation of the Indian Civil Rights Act

Politicizing Who Dies

The Common Law Sovereignty of Religious Lawfinders
and the Free Exercise Clause

Freedom and Federalism: The First Amendment's
Protection of Legislative Voting

Book Review

Voice, Not Choice
James S. Liebman

Volume 101

October 1991

Number 1