

Furious George page 28

28 FURIOUS GEORGE

The belligerence of the Bush Administration in pursuing expansive power has a long Republican pedigree.

BY NEIL KINKOPF

32 THE MISSING LINK

Congress has shirked its constitutional duties and floundered in the war on terror.

BY MICHAEL GREENBERGER

36 MONKEY WRENCH

The Supreme Court has always thwarted presidents who demand unlimited legal power in wartime.

BY CASS R. SUNSTEIN

42 DISARMING AND DANGEROUS

Meet the affable, consensus-building solicitor general, and learn why liberals should fear him.

BY CHRIS SUELLENTROP

46 LESSONS FROM THE SWISS-CHEESE MAP

Why have Israeli-Palestinian peace talks ignored the importance of good mapmaking?

BY SHARI MOTRO

52 KING JAMES I, OF MICHIGAN

In 1851, James Strang declared himself king of a tract of Northern Michigan. President Millard Fillmore took the king to court and the president lost.

BY GEOFFREY GAGNON

REVIEWS

PRACTICE

56 Point-Blank Verse A school of poetry says the words of judges provide a vivid record of what we see and feel.

BY DAVID SKEEL

PRACTICE

61 Windier City, Bigger Apple Would expanding the boundaries of Chicago and New York to include their suburbs make them greater cities?

BY MINOR MYERS III

ELSEWHERE

66 Tenure-track law students and other characters from the nation's law reviews.

PRACTICE

69 Trial of the 5th Century B.C.

The first madame foreperson was Pallas Athena. A history of trials, from the "Oresteia" to the O.J. saga.

BY ADAM COHEN

EXHIBIT

72 Homage to Catalonia

cover art by BRIAN STAUFFER

legal affairs

September | October 2005

Elder Counsel page 8

An Uncivil Division page 20

1 Commander in Chief BY LINCOLN CAPLAN

SCENES

6 Evil Twins And how DNA evidence is useless against them.

BY JOHN WOLFSON

8 Elder Counsel How Somalia's aged tribal justice system keeps the peace in a country known for chaos.

BY LOUISA LOMBARD

10 U-Hell Reserving a truck can be a devilish business.

BY NICHOLAS HENGEN

13 Torture, Inc. Susan Burke wants two American corporations to be held liable for the abuse that took place at Abu Ghraib.

BY TARA MCKELVEY

14 Was the Plant a Plant? An endangered flower sprouts mysteriously in the path of a planned development.

BY DEMIAN BULWA

THE PRUDENT JURIST

16 When do jurors have the right not to remain silent?

BY WILLIAM H. SIMON

TERMS OF ART

18 The Shoe Still Fits The white buck is gone from elite law firms, but the snobbery it represented lives on.

BY ELIZABETH CHAMBLISS

NUMBERS

23 The Nth Degree Want to be a law professor? Where'd you get your Ph.D.?

BY DAVID FONTANA AND MARGOT SANGER-KATZ

ARGUMENTS

20 An Uncivil Division Political appointees at Justice's civil rights division are driving career lawyers to retirement—then skipping the retirement parties.

BY WILLIAM R. YEOMANS

24 Left to Their Own Devices By helping to shield manufacturers from lawsuits, the FDA is pushing tort reform by fiat—and leaving potentially flawed devices on the market.

BY THEODORE RUGER

ADAM COHEN

The Trial, from Orestes to O.J.

ELIZABETH CHAMBLISS

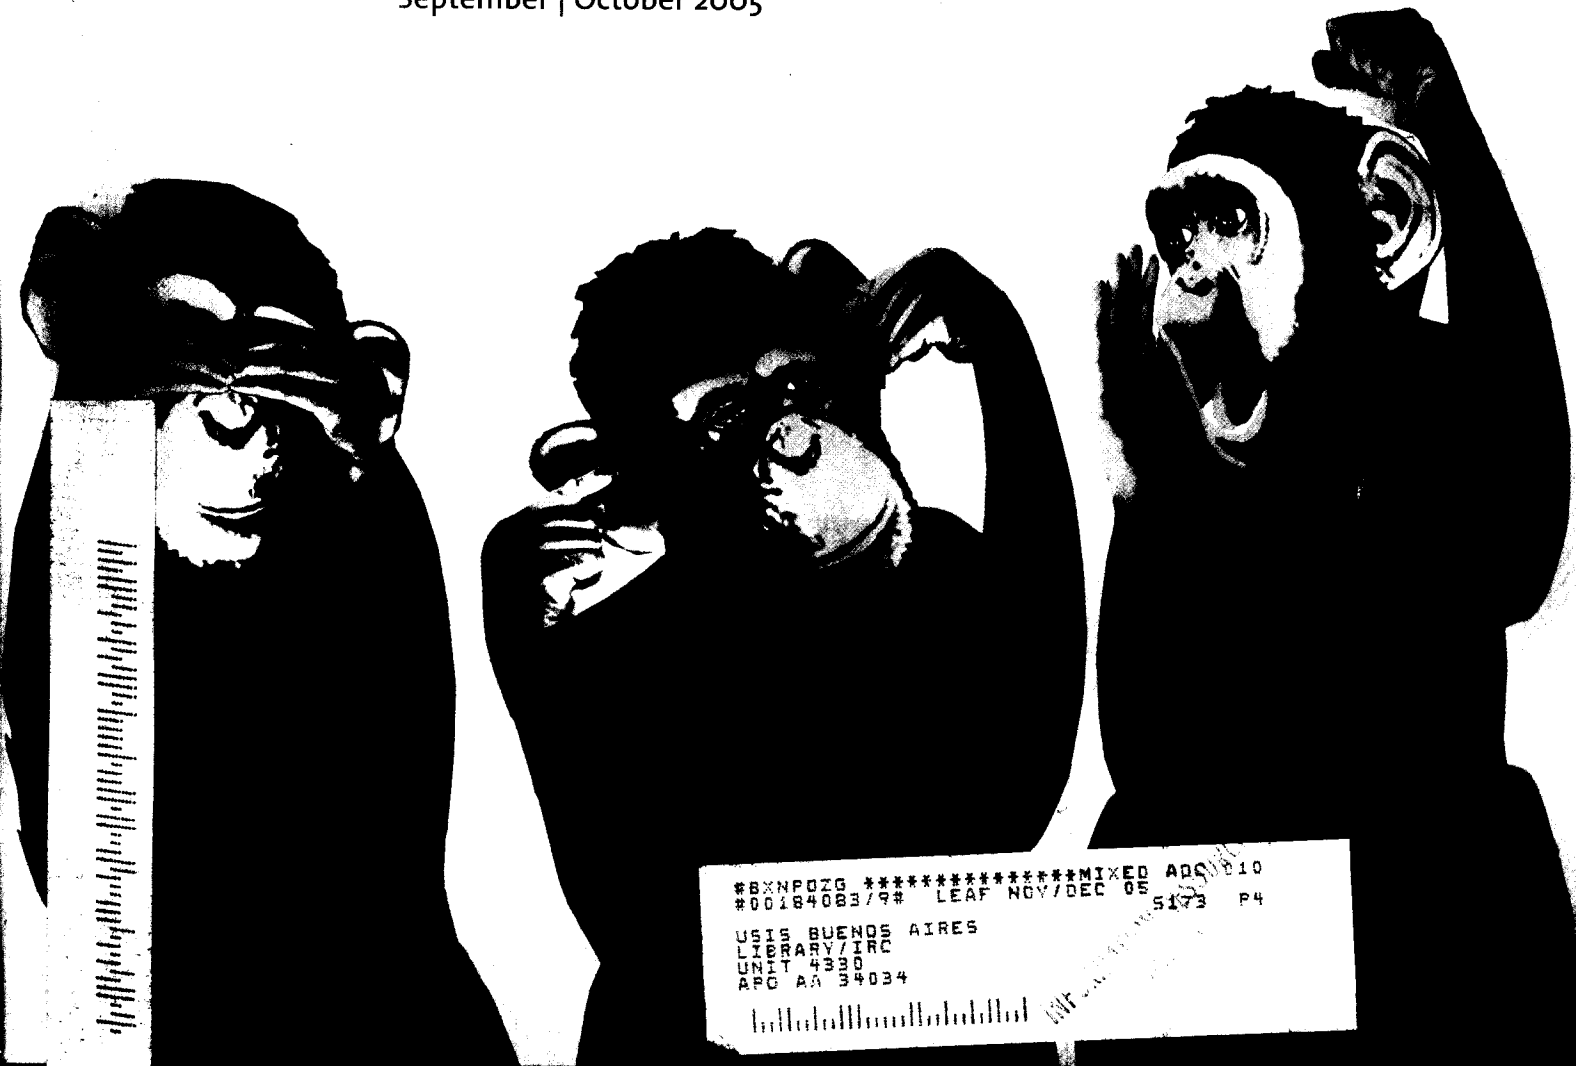

Where the White Shoe Still Fits

DAVID SKEEL

The Poetry of Judicial Opinions

legalaffairs

September | October 2005

#BXNPOZG *****MIXED ADC 010
 #00184083/9# LEAF NOV/DEC 05 5173 P4
 USIS BUENOS AIRES
 LIBRARY/IRC
 UNIT 4330
 APC AA 34034

necks

Neil Kinkopf on the president's belligerent overreach for wartime power
 Michael Greenberger on Congress's deplorable failure to respond
 Cass R. Sunstein on the Supreme Court's surprisingly staunch pushback

www.legalaffairs.org