

EUROPEAN LAW REVIEW

Volume 33 No. 4 August 2008

Editors: Damian Chalmers and Panos Koutrakos

Consultant Editor: Anthony Arnall

Assistant Editor: Gareth Davies

Editorial:

Justifying institutional accommodation

Unity in diversity: European integration and the enlargement process

Giandomenico Majone

The application of the fundamental freedoms to Member State tax measures: Guarding against protectionism or second-guessing national policy choices?

Karen Banks

EU Criminal Law and the Treaty of Lisbon

Steve Peers

Can Ireland legislate contrary to EC law?

William Phelan

Analysis and Reflections

THOMSON

SWEET & MAXWELL

European Law Review

August 2008

Editorial

Justifying institutional accommodation 455

Articles

Unity in diversity: European integration and the enlargement process
Giandomenico Majone 457

The application of the fundamental freedoms to Member State tax measures:
Guarding against protectionism or second-guessing national policy choices?
Karen Banks 482

EU Criminal Law and the Treaty of Lisbon
Steve Peers 507

Can Ireland legislate contrary to EC law?
William Phelan 530

Analysis and Reflections

Interinstitutional Conventions and institutional balance
Bart Driessen 550

How to be a Third Pillar guardian of fundamental rights? The Irish Supreme Court and the European arrest warrant
Elaine Fahey 563

The special security exemption of Article 296 EC: Time for a new notion of “essential security interests”?
Dominik Eisenhut 577

The incomplete state of Community harmonisation in the provision of interim protection by the national courts
Georgios Anagnostaras 586

Book Reviews

598