

HARVARD HUMAN RIGHTS JOURNAL

Articles

Closing Argument at Guantanamo: The Torture of Mohammed Jawad

Major David J.R. Frakt

The Responsibility to Refine: The Need for a Security Council Committee on the Responsibility to Protect

Neville F. Dastoor

Walking the Long Road in Solidarity and Hope:
A Case Study of the "Comfort Women" Movement's Deployment of Human Rights Discourse

Cheah Wui Ling

Note

Refugees Themselves: The Asylum Case for Parents of Children at Risk of Female Genital Mutilation

Melanie A. Conroy

Recent Developments

Book Notes

Volume Twenty-two Issue One
Winter 2009
ISSN 1057-5057

ARTICLES

- Closing Argument at Guantanamo: The Torture of Mohammed Jawad
Major David J.R. Frakt 1
- The Responsibility to Refine: The Need for a Security Council Committee on the Responsibility to Protect
Neville F. Dastoor 25
- Walking the Long Road in Solidarity and Hope: A Case Study of the “Comfort Women” Movement’s Deployment of Human Rights Discourse
Cheah Wui Ling 63

NOTE

- Refugees Themselves: The Asylum Case for Parents of Children at Risk of Female Genital Mutilation
Melanie A. Conroy 109

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

- Chechnya’s Last Hope? Enforced Disappearances and the European Court of Human Rights
Joseph Barrett 133
- Towards Peace Through Legal Innovation: The Process and the Promise of the 2008 Cluster Munitions Convention
Jessica Corsi 145

- BOOK NOTES 159