

European Human Rights Law Review

Editor: Jonathan Cooper

Issue 1 2012

OPINION

Does the United Kingdom Need a National Human Rights Action Plan?

John Kissane

ARTICLES

Affirming the International Rule of Law

Judge Patrick Robinson

Deprivation of Liberty: The Scope of Article 5 of the European Convention on Human Rights

Professor Richard Stone

Exile on Main Street: Australia's Legislative Agenda for Human Rights

Professor David Kinley and Christine Ernst

A Philosophical Taxonomy of European Human Rights Law

Alexander Green

CASE ANALYSIS

Al-Khawaja and Tahery v United Kingdom

Jane Elliott-Kelly

SWEET & MAXWELL

European Human Rights Law Review

Issue 1 2012

Table of Contents

Opinion

Does the United Kingdom Need a National Human Rights Action Plan?

John Kissane

1

Bulletin

8

Bulletin: Counter-Terrorism and Human Rights

13

Articles

Affirming the International Rule of Law

Judge Patrick Robinson

32

Deprivation of Liberty: The Scope of Article 5 of the European Convention on Human Rights

Professor Richard Stone

46

Exile on Main Street: Australia's Legislative Agenda for Human Rights

Professor David Kinley and Christine Ernst

58

A Philosophical Taxonomy of European Human Rights Law

Alexander Green

71

Case Analysis

Al-Khawaja and Tahery v United Kingdom

Jane Elliott-Kelly

81

Case and Comment

Knaggs and Khachik v the United Kingdom

88

Palomo Sanchez v Spain

91

Dojan v Germany

94

Ullens de Schooten and Rezabek v Belgium

97

A.A. v United Kingdom

101

Bah v the United Kingdom

104

Genovese v Malta

107

Şahin and Şahin v Turkey	110
Ahorugeze v Sweden	113
Book Reviews	116