

Cornell International Law Journal

Volume 45

Fall 2012

Number 3

ARTICLES

The Puzzling Non-Consequences of Societal Distrust of Courts: Explaining the Use of Russian Courts

Kathryn Hendley

Is Complementarity the Right Approach for the International Criminal Court's Crime of Aggression? Considering the Problem of "Overzealous" National Court Prosecutions

Jennifer Trahan

The ICSID Under Siege

Leon E. Trakman

NOTES

The Leahy Law: Congressional Failure, Executive Overreach, and the Consequences

Nathanael Tenorio Miller

Too Big to Fail? Towards a Sovereign Bankruptcy Regime

Davy V.H. Nguyen

Incompetent Drafting and Complex Laws: Automatically Waiving Set-Aside of Foreign Arbitration Awards in the United States

Tiina E. Vaisanen

CORNELL INTERNATIONAL LAW JOURNAL

Volume 45

Fall 2012

Number 3

ARTICLES

The Puzzling Non-Consequences of Societal Distrust of Courts:
Explaining the Use of Russian Courts
Kathryn Hendley 517

Is Complementarity the Right Approach for the International Criminal Court's Crime of Aggression?
Considering the Problem of "Overzealous"
National Court Prosecutions
Jennifer Trahan 569

The ICSID Under Siege
Leon E. Trakman 603

NOTES

The Leahy Law: Congressional Failure, Executive Overreach, and the Consequences
Nathanael Tenorio Miller 667

Too Big to Fail? Towards a Sovereign Bankruptcy Regime
Davy V.H. Nguyen 697

Incompetent Drafting and Complex Laws: Automatically Waiving
Set-Aside of Foreign Arbitration Awards in the United States
Tiina E. Vaisanen 723